

THE CRAWFISH STEW BAND

Formed on the Central Coast of NSW, The Crawfish Stew Band was born in early 2014. A three piece band, made up of guitar, bass & drums. This raw and minimalist combination of instruments, means the boys put it all on the line, at each and every gig.

The 'Stew' is fronted by Todd Stewart, a Grand Finalist of The Toyota Star-maker Competition, on vocals and guitar.

The rhythm section comprised of Shaun McCready on bass and backing vocals, and Aussie music legend Rudy Miranda on drums.

The bands' name and style derives from Todd's love of Blues and Southern Rock, combined with a dose Country/Roots, to create a band to cover any venue.

Crawfish Stew are currently in the final stages of recording their debut album 'Oncoming Tide', which is set for release in late 2016 or early 2017, and consists of 11 original tracks. The album was engineered and Co-produced by the bands good friend and Bill Chambers.
